7. A brief write up of the program (with web snaps, if any):

The ITI South Salmara, Alamgonj, Dhubri was established on 1986 under Labor and Employment Department, Assam. The Institute primarily provides capacity building support in the local area. Currently, the institute has six trades to train the trainees mainly COPA (Computer Operator and Programming Assist), Electrician, Refrigerator and AC, Plumber, Hair and Skin care etc.

The program “Visit to ITI South Salmara, Alamgonj” is basically an outcome of Internship Activities under Institutional Innovation Council (IIC), B. N. College, Dhubri. Twenty four students are selected for the program with the aim to ensure practical knowledge in the field of industry based training. The students are selected in such a way that they can deliver their knowledge in their respective departmental students and make people aware of it. The following topics and practical trainings are delivered by the instructors during the visit,

- The purpose of ITI
- Computer CPU assembling
- Testing of different electrical instrument and wiring
- Different AC/DC motors etc.

The tenure of the training is one day. However, the administration of ITI, Alamgonj ensure the possibility of more such training program for the students of B. N. College, Dhurbi in near future.
